

★ WE Were There Too, which tells the story of British Jews in the First World War, has launched a YouTube channel and a podcast.

The first episode in its podcast, which is available through YouTube and on Spotify, is about MAJOR JOSEPH KEMPER, the first Jew to join and fly in the Royal Flying Corps.

Podcasts and videos will be released monthly, and the next five topics will be titled 'Grimsby's Jewish Community in the First World War', 'Voluntary Aid Detachments', 'Jewish Experience in the Military',

War project launches podcast

'The British Jewry Book of Honour' and 'Boy Soldiers'.

Meanwhile, We Were There Too will hold a two-day exhibition, on July 14 and 15, about the Jewish community in Grimsby and the contribution it made during the First World War. It will be held, in collaboration with the North East Lincolnshire Archives Service, at Grimsby Town Hall.
