
New Podcast Series Launched

The We Were There Too (WWTW) project has launched a new podcast series bringing the stories of British Jews in the First World War to life.

Available to stream on YouTube and Spotify, the podcast focuses on different subjects each month, with the first episode covering the life of Joseph Kemper, who was the first Jew to fly in the Royal Flying Corps.

Grimsby's Jewish community will be covered next in July's podcast episode, when the WWTW will run a two-day exhibition at Grimsby Town Hall on 14th and 15th July.
